Onlylawsite Launches www.onlylawsite.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

London - Onlylawsite will launch www.onlylawsite.com, a website devoted to members of the public and small businesses looking for free legal advice on 1 February 2012.

www.onlylawsite.com will provide free legal advice and free legal documents to visitors of the site.

The website is available 24/7 and provides access to basic legal advice and a wealth of free legal documents which are simple to download. Legal aid cuts 'will stop the most vulnerable getting justice' says report, Civil Justice Council says planned £350m reduction in legal aid budget will also result in courts struggling to manage caseloads

In these difficult economic times there is an increasing need for consumers to have access to legal advice, However, with the withdrawal of public funding for legal advice across many areas, the options for consumers to access legal advice are narrowing. Our new online legal service provides access to written legal advice on a range of legal matters free of charge.
